

Keep your drivers safe – on and off the road.

Questions about the Department of Transportation's new driver safety regulations? Mercy Occupational Health can help.

New regulations mandate that companies like yours know how to spot drug and alcohol influence in their drivers. Mercy provides DOT-compliant training courses for supervisors on recognizing the signs and referring potential violators for testing.

And Mercy can help you navigate through the DOT's FMCSA Clearinghouse. We'll administer your Random Testing Pool, manage your access to the Clearinghouse and help you meet any other Clearinghouse-related needs or standards.

Contact Mercy Occupational Health to learn more.
314.364.4052 | clientservices@mercy.net

Keeping Workers Healthy and Controlling Health Care Costs

Mercy Occupational Health partners with companies to achieve a healthier workforce, reduce time lost to illness and injury, raise morale and lower insurance costs with services including:

- Physicals (pre-employment, annual, job-specific, immigration and more)
- Vaccinations and immunizations (flu shots, travel, pre-employment)
- Work-related injury care and management with locations throughout the region
- Drug and alcohol testing (including Random Pull programs)
- Virtual and on-site care, including first aid visits and biometric screenings

Your life is our life's work.

For more information, including a complete list of Mercy Occupational Health services, visit mercy.net/OccHealth

Mercy Occupational Health is part of Mercy