

Intellectual Property Policy

1. License for Your Use of this Website

Mercy grants you a limited, revocable and nonexclusive license to access and make personal use of this Website and not to download (other than page caching) or modify it, or any portion of it, except with the express written consent of Mercy. No part of this Website may be reproduced, duplicated, copied, sold, visited or otherwise exploited for commercial purposes without the express written consent of Mercy. You are granted a limited, revocable, and nonexclusive right to create a hyperlink to the home page of this Website so long as the link does not portray Mercy, its affiliates or its services in a false, misleading, derogatory, or otherwise offensive manner.

You agree to use this Website only for lawful purposes, and you acknowledge that your failure to do so may subject you to civil or criminal liability. You agree not to disrupt, modify, or interfere with this Website or its associated software, hardware and servers in any way and you agree not to impede or interfere with others' use of this Website. You further agree not to alter or tamper with any information or materials on or associated with this Website.

Any unauthorized use terminates the permission or license granted by Mercy and may violate the law.

2. Copyright and Trademark Information

All content included on this Website, such as text, graphics, logos, button icons, images, digital downloads, and software is the property of Mercy or its content suppliers and is protected by copyright laws. The compilation of all content on this Website is the exclusive property of Mercy and is protected by copyright laws. All software used on this Website is the property of Mercy or its software suppliers and protected by copyright laws.

The Mercy Health logo is a registered trademark of Mercy. The product and service names profiled herein are proprietary marks of Mercy. All other brands and names are the property of their respective owners.

You may not utilize framing to enclose any trademark, logo or other proprietary information contained on this Website without express written consent. You may not use any meta tags or any other "hidden text" utilizing Mercy's name or trademarks without our express written consent.

3. You grant a license to Mercy for all submissions

You grant Mercy a non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free, perpetual license, with the right to sublicense, to reproduce, distribute, transmit, create derivative works of, publicly display and publicly perform any materials and other information (including, without limitation, ideas contained therein for new or improved products or services) you submit to public areas of the Website by all means and in any media now known or hereafter developed ("Submissions"). You waive all rights to such Submissions and warrant that you have the right to any Submissions. You agree that you shall have no recourse against Mercy for any alleged or actual infringement or misappropriation of any proprietary right in your communication to Mercy. You are responsible for ensuring that any Submissions you post to this Website or a discussion area via email or otherwise do not violate the copyright, trademark, trade secret or other personal or proprietary rights of any third party. We have the right to remove or refuse to post any Submission for any reason.

4. We will comply with the Digital Millennium Copyright Act

If you have any copyright concerns about materials posted on the Website, you agree to let Mercy know. Pursuant to Title 17, United States Code, Section 512(C)(2), notifications of claimed copyright infringement should be sent to Mercy's Designated Agent. An effective notification contains the following:

- A physical or electronic signature of a person authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.
- Identification of the copyrighted work claimed to have been infringed, or, if multiple copyrighted works at a single online website are covered by a single notification, a representative list of such works at that website.
- Identification of the material that is claimed to be infringing or to be the subject of infringing activity and that is to be removed or access to which is to be disabled, and information reasonably sufficient to permit the service provider to locate the material.
- Information reasonably sufficient to permit the service provider to contact the complaining party, such as an address, telephone number, and, if available, an electronic mail address at which the complaining party may be contacted.
- A statement that the complaining party has a good faith belief that use of the material in the manner complained of is not authorized by the copyright owner, its agent, or the law.
- A statement that the information in the notification is accurate, and under penalty of perjury, that the complaining party is authorized to act on behalf of the owner of an exclusive right that is allegedly infringed.

All inquiries not compliant with the described procedure will not receive a response. For more information email legal@mercy.net and include "IP Policy" in the subject line of your email.
