The David Miller Memorial Trauma Symposium is celebrating its 31st year of providing quality CME/CNE/CE for emergency and trauma care providers. Established as an outreach of Mercy Hospital Springfield in 1988, the David Miller Symposium has been successful in providing much needed education and collaboration in trauma care both on a local and national level. Today, the symposium strives to maintain the legacy of its namesake, the late, Dr. David D. Miller, by providing cutting edge education through its distinguished speakers, highly qualified in their area of medical expertise. The curriculum is tailored to enhance the knowledge and skills of a wide range of emergency and trauma care providers caring for critically injured patients in rural and urban hospitals – from physicians to nurses to first responders. There is something for everyone to learn at this unique symposium.

Medical Residents: you are invited to participate in the David Miller Resident Poster Contest. Contact sprgtraumaburnresearch@mercy.net for more information.

Please bring a cell phone, tablet, laptop or other device that will connect to the internet to participate in evaluations for continuing education credits.
